About Varanasi

The holy city of Varanasi is known as the city of temples and learning. It is also known as Kashi and Benaras. Being one of the seven holiest cities, Varanasi is the oldest city of the world, ageing more than 3000 years old and is famous as the city of temples and the most popular pilgrimage point for the Hindus. Sarnath is about 10 Km from Varanasi, famous for the museum, excavation sites and its Buddhist temples bear the testimony of amalgamation of Indian culture with the neighboring countries. The city is reputed for silk fabrics, perfumes, artistic brass and copper wares and a variety of handicrafts. This vibrant city with multiple dimensions of knowledge and liberation has a magnetic attraction for people all over the world.

About the Department

The Department of Mathematics was founded in 1898 as a part of the Central Hindu College at Kamachha, Varanasi much before the establishment of the Banaras Hindu University in 1916. Subsequently in 1917, Department of Mathematics along with the Central Hindu College was transferred to the Banaras Hindu University. The Department had the privilege of having had eminent scholars on its faculty. The teachers of the Department have been receiving national and international recognition and financial support for their high quality research.

Best paper Award

To participate in the best paper award, the participant must be an author of a paper published/accepted in a Scopus/SCI indexed journal prior to two years of the dates of the conference and the work must be carried out during the tenure of his/her Ph.D. The pdf file of the paper along with acceptance letter and a nomination letter certifying that all the co-authors (if any) have no objection regarding the nomination of the paper for the award must be sent to the convener of the conference.

Aim of the Conference

The main objective of the conference is to initiate interaction and exchange of ideas on the current research and recent developments in nonlinear optimization problems with applications among the mathematicians and their research group of India and France. This will certainly create collaborative research team and research projects in very near future. Further, we aim to bring out special issue of some leading SCI journal on Optimization as a volume of contribution to knowledge. We also aim to encourage and make aware of the state of art of current research on optimization, variational analysis and their applications to the young participants from India. Finally, the interaction among participants from both nations will help to know better the culture of each other's countries which always improves bilateral relation.
